

Thank you for contacting the Office of the Historian.

Our office conducted a search of congressional resources for information on the USS Liberty. As you alluded to, there is one mention in the Congressional Record of a request for a congressional investigation by Representative John Rarick of Louisiana, <http://bioguide.congress.gov/scripts/biodisplay.pl?index=R000065> , but no additional information appeared in our materials.

A broad Internet search on the topic, produced information relating to the National Security Agency. You may want to contact the National Security Archive located at George Washington University (link provided) for any further information on investigations into the attack. If you need additional resources, please feel free to contact our office.
